

Cameron Gale recognized as Managing Intellectual Property's Rising Star 2019

November 27, 2019

Bereskin & Parr LLP is proud to announce that Cameron Gale is recognized as Managing IP's Rising Star 2019.

Cameron Gale is an associate, lawyer and patent agent, and a member of the Electrical & Computer Technology practice group. His practice focuses on drafting, filing and prosecuting patent applications in a wide range of high technology industries, in particular in the electrical, computer and software fields. Cameron has prepared and filed patent applications relating to telecommunications, computer networks, digital signal processing, data encryption, image and data processing, adaptive control systems, and other technologies.

Congratulations Cameron!

About MIP's Rising Stars List

Each year, MIP receives and analyses a lot of information, including client feedback, concerning junior IP practitioners (below partner or equivalent level) but only mention a few of them in our editorials. Following market feedback, Managing Intellectual Property decided to launch a Rising Stars publication in 2018 to highlight some of the best up-and-coming young IP practitioners who contribute to the success of their firms and clients. All things being equal, these practitioners have the potential to become future leaders in their firms and jurisdiction.

Rising stars typically have less than 10 years post-qualification experience, but individuals with more than 10 years of experience may also be considered and selected. This year's publication will be based on all the information obtained during the research period for the 2019 edition of IP STARS (September 2018 to February 2019). Although selection is primarily based on an individual's track record and expertise, we can also take account of activities outside work.
